Ants as Excavators.

Everyone has observed trees that have been hollowed out by ants, and it is apparent that their biting powers are equal to working in the hardest woods. In tunneling, ants are expert, and authentic cases are known of their tunneling under ditches and streams. Indeed, a South American ant is said to have excavated a tunnel under the bed of the Parahyba river at a place where it is as broad as the Thames at London bridge.

A GREAT REMEDY

The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is occasionally a man who had no acquaintance with them and should read the following by F. H. Dear, a hotel man at Dupuyer, Mont. "Four years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy with such wonderful results that I have since recommended it to my friends."

WHAT THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE IS DOING

ROAD BUILDING IS IN FULL SWING

Since early in 1919 there has been a steady increase each month in the Federal aid business in the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. States in all sections of the country are filing their project and receiving allotments. The road building era is in full swing and it would seem that the end is not yet. All indications point to greater records in the month immediately to come.

Based on complete reports from 44 of the states cash expenditures on the rural roads and bridges of the United States for the calendar year 1918 amounted to $286,998,193. To this should be added the value of statute and convict labor which cannot be fixed with any great degree of accuracy but probably amounted to not less than $14,000,000, thus making the grand total expenditures for the year $300,998,000. This total is made up of the actual expenditures for such items as labor, materials, supervision and administration directly connected with the construction, improvement and upkeep of public roads and bridges outside the limits of incorporated towns and cities and does not include any item for sinking fund payments or redemption and interest on road and bridge bonds.

The year 1918 offered an unprecedented condition in practically all lines of highway work. There was not only a tremendous increase and expansion in the amount of heavy truck traffic on public roads and an unprecedented shortage in regard to road materials, labor and ready funds, but also a decided increase in maintenance work, which was, however, partially offset by a decrease in the amount of new construction.

CHOLERA KILLS FEWER HOGS

According to records of the United States Department of Agriculture for the thirteen months from April 1, 1918, to April 30, 1919, hog cholera killed 2,815,004 hogs, valued at $62,042,688.16, in the United States. This is the lowest loss by numbers for a similar period in the live stock history of the United States, but on account of the high price of hogs the monetary loss was heavy. For example, during the year ending March 31, 1913, hogs numbering 6,064,479 and worth $58,833,653 died from cholera while the next year the disease took 6,304,320 hogs worth $67,697,461.

Department experiments show that timeliness in vaccinating hogs against cholera is all important. When exposed hogs were vaccinated, while still apparently healthy, losses amounted to only 4 per cent, but when vaccination was deferred until the animals showed external signs of sickness, losses averaged nearly 29 per cent. This shows that the man who puts off the preventive treatment until his hogs are sick with cholera stands only about one chance in seven of preventing fatal results. It is important, also, to maintain hog yards and barns in clean and sanitary condition.

FINDING TRUCKS EFFECT ON THE PUBLIC ROADS

To determine the destructive effect of heavily loaded auto trucks on high ways and streets and to meet the demand for data on the design of road surfaces and foundations to withstand such heavy traffic, a series of experiments is being conducted by the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, at the Arlington Experimental farm to determine the impact of auto trucks on roads.

The most striking single development in the highway field in 1918 was the tremendous increase in motor truck traffic. Five years ago heavy motor trucks were few in number and limited practically entirely to the paved streets of larger cities. These vehicles now comprise probably 4 to 5 per cent of the grand total of all motor vehicles and are to be found wherever traffic conditions permit profitable use. But very few roads were designed to carry any large volume of this class of traffic. Consequently the cost of adequate maintenance was increased greatly during the year. In many places the damage due to the incessant pounding of these fast and heavy vehicles was so great as to require complete reconstruction.

MEATS SHIPPED ABROAD

From July 1 to August 9 last, 15,114,047 pounds of fresh and frozen beef, 6,794,538 pounds of canned and pickled beef, 15,297 pounds of lamb and mutton, 3,153,832 pounds of fresh and frozen pork, 50,367,813 pounds of hams, shoulders and bacon 55,281,142 pounds of lard and lard compound, 1,304,472 pounds of sausage, 57,007,129 pounds of salted and pickled pork and 253,966 pounds of poultry and game were exported from New York to Belgium, Holland and Sweden. In this period, also, 420 horses were exported to France and 126 head of cattle were shipped to Belgium, according to records of the United States Department of Agriculture.

SHEEP AND LAMBS MAKE RECORD

July receipts of 457,619 sheep and lambs were the largest on record for that month at the Chicago Union Stock Yards, exceeding by 1,906 animals the former record of July 1912, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. This year's run exceeds that of July, 1918, by 117,277 animals. The increase is attributed to the mild weather and favorable spring which resulted in an increase in the number of marketable lambs and also to the fact that earlier lambing and marketing are being practiced. Drought conditions in the northwest range district and the late start of Tennessee and Kentucky lambs marketer also were factors in swelling the July receipts.

South China's Administrative City.
Canton is the chief Chinese administrative and commercial city of South China. It is situated inland from Hongkong 95 miles by water and 112 miles by rail and is located in the fertile Canton delta country, in which converge the West, North and East rivers. In foreign trade Canton ranks third among Chinese ports, being exceeded in volume by Shanghai and Dairen.

As Jimmy Saw It.

James was too pugnacious to his mother's way of thinking. She often scolded him for getting into fights with other boys, and told him it would be better to stand a little picking up than to be fighting half the time. One day he came home with garments soiled and torn and explained that he had been in a fight because he had refused to take a dare. After a heated argument with his mother about it he exclaimed, "See what a coward I shouldn't think you'd want to bring up your boy to be a coward."

Who Won the War?

Pres. Wilson Says America Did.
Gen. Haig Says Britain Did.

Who won the war? This is one of the questions that the peace conference failed to answer.

President Wilson gave the American answer in a speech on board the George Washington July 4.

Field Marshal Haig gave the British answer in an address in Newcastle.

President Wilson said:

"Then America went in, and if it had not been for America the war would not have been won. My heart swells with pride that I cannot express when I think of the men who crossed the seas from America to fight on those battlefields."

General Haig said:

"Don't forget it was the British empire that won this war. We talked a great deal about our allies. It was necessary and right that we should do so to buck them up all we could while the fighting was going on, but don't forget it was the British empire that won this war."

Ancient Chinese Poetry as "Written Pictures"

Several translations of sixteenth, eighteenth and nineteenth century Chinese poems, which have just been printed in an American magazine of verse, will strike many casual readers as being very much like occidental verse libre; and it is also noticeable that these poems, widely apart in time, are very near together in feeling and technical manner. The Chinese poet, in fact, seems to have anticipated by several centuries the "latest thing" in Western verse expression. And perhaps this is really the case. The Chinese term for such poems is, literally translated, "written pictures," which will also seem to many modern readers a good working definition for verse libre.—

This Dog Small Boy's Friend.

A pup in one of the Rumford (Mo.) grade schools failed to come to school and when the trust officer called to learn the reason, he was told that the dog had run off with the small boy's knickerbocker, which had been put in their usual place the night before, and which could not be located until time to attend the afternoon session.

Experimental.

"Dad," inquired a small boy, "what is a test case?" "A test case, my son," replied his parent, "is a case brought into court to decide whether there's enough in it to justify lawyers in working up more cases of a similar kind."
